Bid for Montreal

Diane's career on line at Trials

The most agonizing weekend in Diane Dunbar's young life could lead to the ultimate dream Saturday night in Los Angeles — The Olympic Games.

Pleasanton's teenage gymnastics sensation, veteran of international competition, begins three arduous days at the United States Women's Gymnastics Olympic Trials this afternoon at 2 in the L.A. Sports Arena.

America's Olympic hopefuls will return for more competition this evening, and again Friday and Saturday nights. At the end of the qualifying, six girls will be selected for the Summer Games in Montreal, based on their scores. A seventh will be named the American team alternate.

The rest return home to reflect on the future — and whether or not it's worth four more years of work until the 1980 Games in Moscow.

For Diane this is the pivotal weekend in her career. Member of America's Pan Am and World Games teams, the Olympics are still the driving force in her life. Diane has been victimized by the physical stresses and the mental pressures of her sport. It is doubtful she will continue on if her Olympic bid meets with failure this weekend.

Diane tied for sixth place last month in the U.S. Championships at New Haven, Conn. Three top Americans, including Pan Am Games champion Ann Carr of Philadelphia, were held out of that meet however.

It is hard to assess where Diane stands among the nation's top gymnasts, because the New Haven meet was her first after a severe ankle injury.

She has worked hard with coach Jim Gault since then to improve her conditioning, and perfect a new floor routine adopted in January.

Gault says her chances this weekend are good, but he's not predicting she will earn a berth on the U.S. team. In the last three years Diane has always been rated among the top five or 10 female gymnasts in the country.

This weekend, however, she's got to be no worse than number six.

City told to end overpass accord

PLEASANTON — The city should dissolve its agreement with Stoneson Development Co. to build the Stoneridge overcrossing, the CARD committee decided unanimously Tuesday.

The CARD committee, the new name for the old Citizens Against Redevelopment, based its call for an end to the agreement on a letter sent to Assemblyman Floyd Mori from Philip Raine, Assistant Director of Legislative Affairs for Cal Trans.

In the words of CARD co - chairman Wally Mayer, Jr., the letter to Mori explains that Cal Trans opposed Mori's bill for money for the Las Positas overpass because the city is committed to building the Stoneridge overcrossing .8 of a mile north of the Las Positas site.

The entire letter clearly spells out that position, said Mayer. He disagreed with another view of the situation offered in The Times Sunday by City Manager Bill Edgar and Cal Trans official Burke Bachtold.

Edgar said that the letter to Mori also said that "construction of Las Positas is a desirable project". If the city builds the Stoneridge overcrossing, it will knock down the Las Positas priority a few pegs, but practically speaking it won't make any difference since the state wouldn't have enough funds to build it anyway.

At least the Stoneridge overcrossing is fundable and that should go ahead, said Edgar. Bachtold backed up Edgar's statement, saying that "putting an overcrossing at Stoneridge will have no effect, practically speaking, on Las Positas."

CARD doesn't agree. The letter to Mori shows why the state opposes Mori's bill for the Las Positas funding and Mayer emphasized the word "opposes". The letter definitely singles out the Stoneridge overcrossing as having its planning "well advanced" in contrast to the Las Positas propoasal and clearly gives the nod to Stoneridge, said Mayer.

CARD also wants the city to appear at a public hearing on the Stoneridge overcrossing June 7 to "transmit its positions on both overcrossings". The committee reaffimed "its strong support of construction of the Las Positas overcrossing", said Mayer.

This is the site of the future Las Positas overcrossing which the CARD committee thinks is being threatened by the city's agreement with Stoneson Corporation to build the Stoneridge overcrossing. Foothill might get those lights

A Foothill High School Boosters Club request for financial assistance to develop and light an athletic field at the school, possibly in time for games this fall, got a potential $150,000 commitment from the Amador Valley Joint High School District board Tuesday night.

The board approved an agreement with Associated Architects to draw plans and specificiations for lights and bleachers, following a presentation by Ronald Martyn of preliminary plans and cost data.

As approved, the district would budget $50,000 from the community services fund each of the next three years (1976-77, 77-78 and 78-79) in an effort to help develop athletic facilities at Foothill.

According to Doug Rose, assistant superintendent for business services, it is the Foothill Boosters Club feeling "that the sports program in the minor sports area will never expand significantly without the income from the major sports activities, particularly football. It is their opinion that an operational football field will generate adequate funds, so that the minor sports will get an opportunity to expand."

The Amador district staff, Rose added, had agreed it would recommend to the board it commit $50,000 for next year and, "to the degree that it is possible, commit $50,000 for the next two succeeding years from the community services fund in support of their goal of athletic facilities development."

Associated Architects, headed by Martyn, a former district architect, will initially develop a master plan, followed by plans and specifications for lighting and bleachers.

Present for the discussion were Ivan Albert, president, and Gary Mather, vice president, of the Boosters.

Foothill will have its first senior class in September with a total enrollment of approximately 1,500. The school competes in the East Bay Athletic League but played an independent schedule in football last season. This will be their first EBAL varsity football season.

Trustees earlier approved the appointment of Richard Carroll as Don Landers' successor as Foothill High principal, effective July 1.

Carroll, 45, is currently principal at Indio High School in the Desert Sands Unified School District. He has been at Indio the last five years. It has a student enrollment of 2,300.

Previously, Carroll was an assistant principal at Agoura High School and Arcadia High School in Southern California.

In other business, trustees approved an agreement to place a mobile home on the Amador Valley High campus. Ed Greene, a district employee whose mobile home will be connected up to utilities, will serve as a security watchman in an attempt to cut down the amount of vandalism at night and on weekends at the school.

A full - service cafeteria was opened Wednesday at Foothill High with a combo lunch being offered. Mrs. May Church is cafeteria supervisor.

Thompson wants to wait on resigning

PLEASANTON — Housing Authority Chairman William Thompson wants to wait for a state Attorney General's opinion before deciding whether to submit his resignation as asked by the city council.

The council voted 3-2 last week (William Herlihy and Robert Philcox voted no) to ask for Thompson's resignation. The council majority agreed with City Attorney Ken Scheidig that Thompson appears to violate a state law passed last year which bars city housing authority commissioners from living outside the city they serve.

Thompson lives at Castlewood and that was his residence seven years ago when he was appointed to the board. It was okay then, according to state law. Thompson feels that the new law may apply only to new appointees, not to holdovers like himself.

Annex idea draws concerns

PLEASANTON — The city is looking into the possibility of annexing old Santa Rita Road from Tassajara Road to the Interstate 580 freeway.

City Manager Bill Edgar raised the question Monday night to the city council to see if there were any objections.

There were no objections to adding the small strip of businesses and old homes along the road, but a couple of council members did raise some concerns about the area.

Councilman Willaiam Herlihy said he would like to get the properties off septic tanks and thought that might be a possibility if the city annexes the area.

Councilman Frank Brandes hoped the city could exercise some control over the aesthetics of the area. Councilwoman Joyce LeClaire wondered if the street was up to city code. It is not, replied Director of Engineering Services Don Sooby, but as properties redevelop they would meet new standards set by the city.

Edgar had one worry about the annexation. Currently the city could annex it as an "uninhabited annexation" because the required 60 per cent of the property values in it are owned by people who favor annexation. But if the current seven or eight registered voters on the rolls increases to 12 voters, then the rules of the game would change. The annexation would have to be approved by the voters.

Jamieson on commission June 2

PLEASANTON — Bill Jamieson will take his position on the planning commission June 2, succeeding retiring commissioner Howard Garrigan.

Jamieson was by appointed to the post Monday night the city council.

He was chosen from a field of seven candidates. Others who were interviewed by the council were Rob Anglin, a site planner at Lawrence Livermore Laboratory; downtown merchant Gene Finch, who is a past city council candidate; home improvement magazine writer Jim Jordan, a past city council candidate; Ken Goodman, an estimator and construction manager; Richard Knight, a systems requirements analyst; and Bette Meyer, the staff person for Congress of Valley Agencies, who has a degree in urban and regional planning and served on the Washington State Land Use Planning Commission.

Jamieson, a 12 year resident of the city and 19 year resident of the valley, has a wife, Dodge, and a grown daughter, Denise. He is retired from Sandia Corporation.

Pleasanton man killed

PLEASANTON — An Oakland policeman who resided in Pleasanton was killed early yesterday morning when his car went out of control and overturned on Interstate 580 near Eden Canyon.

Kenneth Lee Christian, 29, of 1154 Blanc Court, was pronounced dead at 4:55 yesterday morning at Eden Hospital in Castro Valley.

Christian was driving his 1975 Toyota on 580 just east of Eden Canyon about 1:20 a.m. Wednesday when the car suddenly went out of control. His car skidded off into the dirt median strip, and as he tried to steer back onto the roadway, overturned and ejected him.

Christian joined the Oakland police department in 1968 after a four-year stint in the Navy, at which time he was awarded the Vietnam and National Defense Service Medals.

He leaves his wife, Marsha Ann, and their two children, Tracy Lynn, 4, and James Eldon, 2.

Funeral services are pending.

Zone 7 impotent?

Incumbent Harris says vote crucial

This is the fourth in a series of articles on eight candidates for the Zone 7, Alameda County Flood Control and Water Conservation District. Board of Directors.

Dave Harris thinks the future is up for grabs in the Zone 7 board race. The outcome of the election, he said, could "render the Zone 7 board impotent as an effective provider of services." The zone's ability to become a true regional agency hangs on this election, he believes.

Harris, currently chairman of the Zone 7 Board of Directors, is the only incumbent in the June 8 race for three seats on the board.

Harris is trying to walk the middle ground between "those who foster growth and those who want to keep the other guys out."

"If this election turns the zone into a divided board, screaming and yelling, it will be unfortunate," Harris said. But he can foresee ways in which the board might come out unified, with an ideological majority either way.

Whether Zone 7 gets into the sewer issue will depend upon the complexion of the board, Harris said. He would favor a phase - out of the Livermore - Amador Valley Wastewater Management Agency (LAVWMA) "if a good, solid (zone) board is elected."

"I'd favor a move to take over entire wastewater management with LAVWMA's aprroval," Harris said. "Zone 7 is the most logical agency to make those decisions LAVWMA is an awkwardly composed board."

The LAVWMA - Zone 7 interface, Harris said, "is more than awkward — it's repugnant. There is a double layer of government, each with taxpayers' money, each competing."

Harris will support the LAVWMA's effluent disposal pipeline because it is the "immediate solution to our problems now." He said he could not see far enough into the future to know if the super sewer is the ultimate answer, but he said "immediate problems must be solved by immediate technology."

The big question now, Harris said, is how big the pipe should be. "The pipe should be able to handle no more than the amount of water the zone can bring into the valley," Harris said. "It is prudent to have an increment now for room in the future. We don't want to have to dig it up and add a parallel pipe ten years later," he said.

Harris said he would urge voters to approve a bond issue for a 33-inch diameter pipe.

Some see this larger pipe size as added capacity for Geldertown. "Whether or not New Town is built — and personally I'm against it as a citizen, a voter and a resident — it's not the job for Zone 7 to make the decision," Harris said.

"I'm a lawyer, and I believe in doing things by the law. We can't use Zone 7 as a backdoor veto for land-use planning decisions that are properly made by another body," Harris declared.

"Zone 7 should be responsive to those land use agencies — not second guess them," he said, adding that if "an application comes from a legitimate agency for legitimate service" then Zone 7 should supply that service.

But Harris reiterated his support for the "adjacent area" concept. "I'd like to get agreement with LAVWMA to restrict Zone 7's power in their adjacent areas so that we would not go in unless they asked us to," Harris said "I voted for that on the board and I'd vote for it again."

The zone's most outstanding accomplishment while he was on the board, Harris said, was to build the Del Valle Water Treatment Plant which will be officially dedicated next week.

"We've fulfilled our promise to the west end of the valley," Harris said. "The water, in terms of hardness, is three times better than it was and about 2½ times better in total dissolved solids."

Harris would encourage the cities to stop pumping their own wells, mixing significantly harder water with the treated water Zone 7 delivers. But he said that's a decision the cities must make for themselves.

And if the cities want more treated water, Harris would favor expanding the Del Valle Plant. "We could expand the plant if people really wanted more water, but it would take another bond issue."

On water rates, Harris said the board must rely greatly on the staff's recommendation. "They tell us we must put away more reserves. If we listen to staff, they say we're not putting away enough. We've tried to get the money from a mix — water revenue, general taxation and connection fees," he said.

In the case of plant expansion, Harris said the new user should pay the cost. But he said "good water will go to Geldersprawl before the west end of the valley over my dead body.

"Our first commitment is to those who paid the bonds. We've made a commitment to the electorate that we've got to keep," he said.

Zone 7 should be better known to the community, Harris acknowledges. He believes a staff move from present offices at the Hayward County offices to the valley will make the zone staff "more available, accessible and better known."

Harris feels personally responsible for getting the staff move underway. The entire transfer should be accomplished within a year, he predicted.

"There's going to ba a tremendous change in the zone's whole approach to the valley," Harris concluded.

Woman injured in Heather Lane accident

LIVERMORE — A 37-year-old Livermore woman was injured when her car skidded on loose gravel and broadsided a car parked on Heather Lane early Tuesday.

Police said Carole Ann Wilder of 5551 Idlewild Ave. was travelling northbound on Heather Lane about 12:35 a.m. Tuesday when her car began to skid on loose gravel. She lost control of the vehicle and skidded into a car parked on the opposite side of the street, police reported.

Police and fire personnel responded to the scene and found Wilder pinned inside the vehicle. Rescue workers used pry tools to remove the driver's door and lifted Wilder from the wreckage.

The vehicle was impounded to check for mechanical defects.

Wilder was reported in serious but stable condition with head injures at Valley Memorial Hospital. Wilder's 1975 Ford and Donald Candelario's Chevrolet, the parked car involved in the accident, both sustained major damage.

Police lifted fingerprints from three of the cans. The investigation into the vandalism attack will continue.

Cooper, Murphy foiled again

Alameda County Bureau

OAKLAND — A special environmental committee of the Association of Bay Area Governments (ABAG) yesterday rebuffed county attempts to get the controversial "super sewer" off a list of proposed study topics.

Removing the Livermore - Amador Valley Water Management Agency's (LAVWMA) project from the list would have been prelude to a special, year long study advocated by county supervisors John Murghy and Fred Cooper.

ABAG's Environmental Management Task Force, considered by some to be the environmental power broker of the future in Bay Area politics, ruled Cooper out of order when he tried to remove the LAVWMA project from the study.

Cooper, the board's chairman and Alameda County representative to the EMTF, was instructed Tuesday not to do anything to delay the project.

But he urged EMTF members to remove the valley project because of a "proposed compromise" with LAVWMA officials that will be worked out in the next month.

He asked that it be continued to next month's EMTF meeting.

LAVWMA will not meet until tonight and the county wants certain guarantees before it agrees to keep its and ABAG's hands off the project.

Under the proposed compromise, the county will participate in "mitigating measures" required by the federal Environmental Protection Agency if LAVWMA agrees to a "two stage" ballot measure in November.

When valley voters are asked to approve some $3 million in bonds to finance a sewer line that will carry treated effluent across the Dublin Canyon to a massive East Bay trunk line, the board wants a second ballot proposition as an "advisory clause" on what size line voters prefer.

The county argues for a larger line that would accomodate future industrial and residential development if air pollution problems are conquered.

But LAVWMA members charge the county with sewering for Harlan Geldermann's proposed New Town in the Las Positas Valley.

Cooper said the "advisory clause" would not be binding on the LAVWMA board, but that its elected officials would think twice about rebuffing voters.

He said the county would be prepared "to move the way Livermore did five years ago" in its environmental fights with the supervisors.

"Law suits challenging the EIR, the ABAG air pollution source study . . . All the things Livermore did to us when they were on the other end," would be the county's tact, he said.

Cooper has pushed for the year long computer study to find the source of air pollution in the valley. He claims that most smog is blown in from the Bay basin and that future growth in the valley will not effect the air quality.

He has been threatening LAVWMA with the study if it does not go after bonds to build the bigger pipeline.

HOW TO GET MORE COOL FOR LESS COST

It's hard to keep cool if your air-conditioner isn't working properly. It may be running too hard to deliver enough cool, and be wasting energy... and money.

Whether you have a room air-conditioner, or a central system, now is the time to check it. Before the summer heat arrives.

We're not suggesting that you buy a new air-conditioner. But if you do, make sure you buy a model with a high Energy Efficiency Ratio (EER). The higher the EER, the more cool you get for your money. PG&E recommends an EER of 7.5 or higher for room air-conditioners, and 7 or higher for central systems. Most new units have the EER number stamped on the manufacturer's nameplate.

With a little advance knowledge and planning, when summer comes you can keep cooler cheaper.

Clean or replace filters. It's simple to do. Clogged filters can overwork your air-conditioner. (Did you know that inexpensive indicators can be installed on central units to tell you when your filter needs changing?)

Oil the motor and fan bearings. Lightly. (Check your owner's manual.)

Clean condenser and evaporator coils with a vacuum cleaner attachment or brush to remove dirt, leaves and bugs.

Keep your thermostat at 78° or higher when summer does arrive, so you won't waste power.

Check for loose parts and wire connections. If you find something's wrong and can't fix it, get a reliable service man. Before your temperature rises.

Save energy - you'll save money, too.

Gaggle planned for parade

They'll be coming by the hundreds, in every manner of contraption and getup imaginable!

And those are just the participants we're talking about. Wait'll you see the expected crowd of 25 to 30,000 that will probably line the streets of Pleasanton come Sunday, May 23 for the "Good Times Parade III."

Isabelle Lemon, parade entries organizer for the Radio KNBR - backed fun times, said the original maximum entries list of 225 has been stretched and is now pressing 250. Starting time for the parade has also been changed to 1:30 on the 23rd.

The San Francisco station, which has a beam that can be picked up throughout much of the Pacific Coast, has been promoting the parade almost hourly for the past month.

With good weather, the spectator count could well exceed 50,000.

The parade did meet some opposition before it was finally approved by the Pleasanton City Council.

The entry list covers a full eight pages and includes the following novelty and marching units:

Plesanton Jaycees fire truck, Amador Valley High Golden Don band, Frank Dill Kazoo Band, "Follow The Yellow Brick Road" group, Pleasanton Fillies, KNBR TV stars, Wanda Lust's Whorse Around Ranch, Sullivan Celtic Drill Team, Charlie The Gorilla, S.S. Pleasanton, El Charro Baton and Drum Corps, Trollops, Modesto Ski Club, Contra Costa Sheriff's Posse, Kilkare Woods Good Times Brigade, Dublin's smallest horse and carriage, Hap Harper and the Alameda city Cowbelles, Donlon School band, Bagpipes Lenihan and fan club, World's Dumbest Radio Contest winners, Miss Bridge Universe, Hinky Pinky champions, Granucci's cocktail lounge, Carter's Harem (Carter B. Smith of KNBR), Foothill High band, Livermore Junior Unicyclists, Jack London Village Penguins, Bugs Bunny and friend from Great America, Krazy George, Angels Camp Miners band and several hundred assorted zanies.

Enrollment still falls

Enrollment in California's public schools continued to decline, but the rate of loss appears to be slowing, it was reported today by Wilson Riles, state Superintendent of Public Instruction.

Riles said enrollments fell about .3 per cent last fall to 4,284,471 among pupils in kindergarten through grade 12. This rate of decline, he said, was only about one - third of the drop experienced a year ago.

The slump in enrollment is still having its greatest effect in elementary school grades, Riles reported.

This is reflected in the Livermore - Amador Valley most dramatically in the Murray School District where the K-8 Murray schools have been declining in enrollment for several years and are expected to do so for another two or three years.

Overall, the 4.3 million in public schools statewide last fall was about 11,000 less than a year earlier. The same figures for the fall of 1974 showed a decline of about 34,000 pupils, a loss of about .8 per cent.

The largest percentage enrollment increases were in the remote northern counties of Lake, Nevada, San Benito, Amador, and Mariposa.

Alameda County ranks fifth in the state in total enrollment (206,000), behind Los Angeles (1.3 million), Orange, San Diego and Santa Clara.

Livermore Women anticipate another active year

Outgoing President Cleo Seamans and Arist Zelma Norem share a moment of triumph over their joint venture — the Livermore Woman's Club pressbook which captured a blue ribbon in district competition.

Incoming President Rebecca Gann assumed her new responsibilities for the Livermore Woman's Club with the theme "Bridging for Progress, Inspiration and Fun."

Mrs. Gann and her new slate were recently installed in a ceremony which representated an imaginative take-off on the elements of a game of bridge, Rebecca's favorite pasttime. Installing officer was Nancy Rogers, past president of the Livermore Junior Women's Club.

Women stepping up into positions of leadership for the club are Barbara Otto, first vice-president; Kay Thomas, second vice-president; Eda Sumpter, recording secretary; Anita Riley, auditor; Sandra Pierce, treasurer; Priscilla Payne, parliamentarian; and Dorothy Viegeli, corresponding secretary.

Outgoing President Cleo Seamans could point to the past year of accomplishment for the club with pride — the Livermore chapter of the California Federation of Women's Clubs captured three first place awards at the Alameda District convention in competition with 12 other clubs.

First place honors and a blue ribbon were earned by the club's pressbook which was evaluated at 99 point out of a possible 100. The book, with its cover hand-painted by Member Zelma Norem, amply demonstrated the broad news coverage given the club's activities this year.

The program "How to Live on Less" presented by Member Marjie Thompson, and the club's subsequent letter-writing campaign against food additives aimed at legislators earned first place honors in the category of Consumer Concerns.

The Livermore Women participated in several projects to earn first place honors in the Bicentennial category — an "armchair tour" into California's past with local historian, Janet Newton; purchase of an all-weather flag and night lighting for the flag displayed by the City of Livermore at First Street; and a resolution by the club sent to influential Livermore civic organizations requesting that Carnegie Park and Carnegie Building retain the historic names.

The club was also recognized with awards in the categories of citizenship, legislation, membership and school priorities.

A somber note was introduced at the festive installation luncheon when Junior Membership President Sharon Puffer announced that the Livermore Junior Women's Club had resolved to disband as of May 15. The club's charter remains intact should Livermore women choose to reorganize the junior membership.

Becky Gann, an active member of the Livermore Woman's Club for three years and of the Livermore Junior Women's Club for seven years, assumes the LWC presidency for the 1976-77 term. Among many offices for the Juniors, she served as treasurer at the district level. She is also an officer for Holy Cross Lutheran Church of Livermore and the Rincon Parents Association. She has been a resident of Livermore with her husband, Kenneth, for 13 years. They have a son, Jeffrey, age 6.

Sew your own stars 'n stripes

Are you looking for the perfect bicentennial project for your club, your Scout group, your civic organization? Sew up the Stars and Stripes. Make a crisp and colorful American flag to display with pride and affection all through the bicentennial year and for years to come.

Materials for a good-looking flag will run about $15 to $20, or less if you make the flag without fringe. Good quality polyester-cotton broadcloth is suggested because it is lightweight, easy to sew, true to color and wrinkle-free.

Manufacturers use a tough fabric of wool and nylon or a durable synthetic such as Antron to make flags that will withstand wind and weather. However, this flag is intended for display use indoors, so you can choose you Fabric for beauty rather than durability

There is no wrong side to a flag — it must look perfectly finished on both sides. Therefore, the directions call for a version of a flat fell seam, which leaves no raw edges on either side. Iron-on material is recommended to the stars so there will be no stitches showing through the blue field. However, if you want a more durable flag, use heavier materials and thread, and sew the stars securely.

With the Bicentennial upon us, it is perhaps time to refresh our memories about America history, in this case about the flag.

In the first years of the Revolution, Americans fought under many different flags But the colonists wanted one national flag. On June 14,1777, the Continental Congress passed this resolution:

"Resolved, that the flag of the thirteen United States be thirteen stripes alternate red and white; that the union be thirteen stars, white in a blue field, representing a new constellation."

Every year, the President proclaims Flag Day on June 14, in memory of the resolution by the Congress. Flag Day was first celebrated in 1877, the 100th birthday of the flag.

There has never been any official statement on the arrangement of the stars. Early flags put the 13 stars in a circle. One version put 12 stars in a circle with the thirteenth inside the circle. The flag of 1818 had 20 stars, arranged in a star.

The Continental Congress didn't say why it chose red, white and blue for our colors. But in 1792, the Congress of the Confederation chose these colors for the Great Seal and gave them these meanings: red is for hardiness and courage, white for purity and innocence, and blue for vigilance, perseverance and justice.

Our flag stands for our land, our people, our government and our national ideals. Every citizen should know how to display the flag and treat it with proper respect.

The blue field is called the canton. When a flag is flown from a building the canton should be away from the building. Hung over the street the canton should be to the east on a north - south street, or to the north on an east-west street.

On Memorial Day and other times of mourning, the flag is flown at half-mast. Raise if to the peak before lowering it to half-mast and raise it to the peak again before lowering it for the day.

Salute the flag as it passes you in a parade with a military salute or with your hand over your heart.

Instructions for making a handsome display flag are available to readers of this newspaper. The materials are easily available, and the directions worked out by the Educational Department of J. Wiss and Sons, are easy even for inexperienced sewers to follow.

Send for your leaflet with instruction for making the American flag and help celebrate our 200th birthday. For your copy write to Stitchin' Time, care of this newspaper, Box 503, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019. Ask for Flag Leaflet J 225. Enclose $1 for each copy.

Pleasanton bicentennial festival

Hundreds of artisans assemble

One of the highlights of the upcoming Pleasanton Bicentennial Heritage Festival will be the array of more than 150 arts and crafts booths at Amador Valley Community Park, the largest number of artisans ever assembled by Chairman Phyllis Wentworth and Billie Schmer of the Pleasanton Art League.

The art league has also coordinated the adult and children's art shows which will be open to the public during the festival at the Pleasanton Cultural Arts Center, near the park.

The Pleasanton Bicentennial community celebration will offer something for everyone Saturday and Sunday, May 15 and 16 from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

The following local artisans will be among those displaying and selling their wares at the festival: Bernie Kruppa (jewelry), Mary Burgin (doll clothes), Barbara Gembrin (painted driftwood), Marion Derheim (macrame and lapidary), Mary Hanson (stained glass), Barbara Parks (stuffed dolls and animals), Ken Sena (redwood burl art), Wayne Hunter (turquoise jewelry), Robert Hansen (soapstone carvings), Shirley Gordon (corn husk dolls), Marguerite Jursch (puppets), Terri Bunce (pen and ink drawings), Richard Lovell (metal sculpture), Andrea Ben-Aviv (dough art), Danny Baker (ceramic pots), and many others.

Residents of the wider Bay Area will also participate in the craft show.

The judges in the adult art show competition sponsored by the Pleasanton Art league have been named. They are Ted Maddock of San Jose, and Marjorie Cathcart of Berkeley.

Maddock, a native of Santa Cruz, is a free-lance commercial urtist at San Jose, trained at the state university there by Eric Oback and Robert E. Wood. He began his training under Leon Amyx at Hartnell College in Salinas.

In 1974, Maddock received national recognition from Watercolor USA with "Somewhere by the Bay." He has won numerous awards at such shows as the Jack London Square show, the Delta Annual, the East Bay Watercolor Society show, and the current New York show of the American Watercolor Society.

Mrs. Cathcart holds a degree in arts from the University of California, and studied color theory with Catherine Hagen with whom she now shares a teaching studio.

She recently received her 40th art award, the first and juror's choice awards at the San Francisco Women Artists Zellerbach show. Other awards include first and purchase award in the 1967 California State Fair, first in the Alameda County Fair for the years 1970, 1971 and 1974. She was a juror in the 1971 state fair show and is represented in the Capitol Collection for the State of California.

Mrs. Cathcart will be the guest speaker at the May 17 meeting of the Pleasanton Art League at 7:30 p.m. at the Pleasanton Cultural Arts Center. The public is welcome to the program at which Mrs. Cathcart will critique the work entered in the show by PAL members.

George Withers, craftsman of handmade jewelry such as that modeled by his daughter, Tiffany, will join the dozens of artisans displaying their wares at Amador Valley Community Park Saturday and Sunday.

By KAREN BOYLE

A very special thing has happened to San Francisco: "A Chorus Line" has come to town. Direct from its sensational first run on Broadway, the winner of nine Tony Awards including Best Musical, Best Director, Best Choreographer and Best Musical Score, "A Chorus Line" is a mirror of life, a celebration of human talents, strengths, frailties, dreams and disappointments.

It tells the story of the musical's indispensable but unsung group: the men and women who dance ceaselessly in the chorus line, the ones who make the stars shine, those whose names never appear on the marquee, those for whom there are no curtain calls.

"A Chorus Line" is an open rehearsal in which seventeen dancers compete for eight roles. Only four boys and four girls, so called in the trade, will be chosen.

Michael Bennett, who conceived, choreographed and directed the show, is himself a dancer. And his play, which grew over a nine-month period from his impressions, for the first time in history brings the dancers from back stage to center front.

"A Chorus Line" depicts their lives. The endless auditions, the endless attempts to please. The opening number, "I Hope I Get It," reveals the dancers' concerns: Will he like me? Will he like the way I dance? What does he want from me? Will he like the way I look? What does he want me to be?

They strive to show the director that they are the ones he wants for his play, that they can dance the way he wants, look the way he wants, sing the way he wants. It is the consummate interview: the poignant desire to be all things and still be you.

Though set in the "A Chorus Line" milieu of the theatre, is a very human and universal story. It reaches out to anyone who has ever tried to be the best that he or she can be. It tells the story of all of our efforts to succeed, to be loved.

As the musical unfolds, one by one the dancers tell their own stories, where they're from, why they started to dance, what this job will mean to them. The special thing about is that it brings out each dancer and lets the audience share their lives.

The audience roots for each one of them to succeed, to be chosen. And in cheering for each of them, you salute yourself, your own humanity "A Chorus Line" celebrates the dignity of the attempt. It sees merit in the striving, in the search — regardless of the outcome.

For dancers, the striving must be its own reward, because almost more than in any other profession, the ability to dance is ephemeral. Youth and physical strength are at a premium. Competition is keen. Pain and the risk of debilitating injury are ever present.

In one of the most moving scenes in the musical, Diana Morales, played by Priscilla Lopez, sings "What I Did For Love," a tribute to the dancers' dedication to their art in the face of defeat. By far the musical's most beautiful number, Diana's belief that there is virtue in trying for the sake of love alone is uplifting.

Near the end of the show, the director announces who has made the chorus line. The audience is given just a moment to savor the bittersweet — the joy of those who've made the cast and now have a reprieve, and the heartbreak of those who must pick up their dance bags and shuffle off to the next audition.

And then, in the best "show must go on" tradition, the entire chorus line reappears for their finale "One." The stage blazes with rhinestones, white and silver, as the seventeen strut on stage in their silver tuxedos and top hats.

And it is ironic that once dressed in costume the people the audience has come to know so intimately have disappeared into the oneness of the chorus line. Their unique and special qualities are submerged to the total look: one kick, one step, all together, the self lost.

To the delight of out-of-town audiences, Bennett has chosen to send major members of the original Broadway cast to San Francisco. Others have been sent to London and Toronto and another company remains in New York.

Donna McKechnie as Cassie and Sammy Williams as Paul show San Francisco the performances that earned them this year's Tonys for best actress and best featured actor in a musical.

Set design is marvelously understated The stage is bare black. One single white line, the practice line for the chorus, is drawn upstage. Periodically throughout the performance the back wall revolves into a mirror. The audience can view the performance from the back of the stage looking out on itself as from the dancers vantage point. People sitting in the orchestra section are reflected in the mirror. It is a musical turned inside out, an ingenious counterpoint.

The lighting is inspired, functioning as the dancers' only prop. Lighting designer Tharon Musser also received a Tony.

A Chorus Line is a human celebration that at all costs should not be missed.

Grand finale

The Livermore-Amador Symphony will put its all into the final concert of the season set Saturday, May 22 at the Livermore High School Auditorium. The 8:15 p.m. program features Violinist David Abel, winner of the Leventritt International Violine Competition. Abel will play Mozart's Villine Concerto No 5 on his 1719 Guarnerius violin. Admission to the concert is $3 for adults and $1.50 for students at the door, with new subscribers to the symphony's 1976-77 season admitted free of charge Season tickets for next year's concert will be available that evening, including the new family season ticket which admits two adults and all children for $20. The L-A Symphony Guild will honor patrons, sponsors and benefactors of the symphony at a post-concert reception.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Someone may try to make heavy material demands of you today. If you don't feel you should part with what you have, speak up!

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You and your mate may not see eye-to-eye on important issues today. It's best for each of you to make some concessions.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You'll have a tougher workload today than you anticipated, yet if you finish what you start you'll be very proud of yourself.

CANCER (June 21-July 20) Domineering individuals who want to manage your life today will meet with a hostile response. You're in no mood to be dictated to.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Today you might feel you're stymied at every turn, but if you're persistent success will come eventually.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Your views and those of an old friend are likely to clash today. Count to 10 so you don't say something to hurt her.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Even though it may be inopportune tc do so at this time, honor your obligations. Don't let an old debt hang over your head.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) A close associate with whom you usually get along rather well may be difficult to please today. Be patient and understanding.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) This is one of those days when rewards won't be commensurate with your efforts. However, do what's expected of you.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Your less important activities are likely to dominate most of your time today. The more serious matters will be left to the last minute.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Second efforts should work where first ones fail today, if you don't rush things. Be prepared to go a step at a time.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Persons not in accord with your ideas today could be very hostile if you try to change their minds. Associate with receptive people.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Here is a Kelsey hand where bridge logic and a little bit of luck bring home a contract that most players would miss.

West opens the 10 of hearts. You win and play two more rounds of trumps. West follows with the nine and eight while East sheds a club and a diamond. You take a successful club finesse (the little bit of luck), cash dummy's ace of clubs and ruff a club. West follows to all three clubs and produces the six and jack of diamonds when you cash your ace and king of that suit.

At this point in time you have a cinch play for your contract provided that West has at least five spades to the ace for his vulnerable overcall.

Just play your king of spades. West takes his ace. If he continues with the queen of spades he will collect three spades and then give you a ruff and discard. If he leads a low spade to his partner's jack, East will cash a diamond and give you that needed ruff and discard.

Ask the Jacobys

Here is another question about honors in rubber bridge. Some people insist that they must be claimed before the first trick is played to.

The answer is that it is unnecessary for declarer to claim them until the hand is over and both improper and unnecessary for a defender to claim them early.

Allio takes title in playoff

GALT — San Ramon Valley High School's Greg Allio made a routine par on the first hole of a sudden-death play-off with defending champion Jack Stevenson to take individual honors at the East Bay Athletic League golf tournament at Dry Creek Ranch Golf Club here yesterday.

Monte Vista won the team championship with a 402 stroke total for its top five, beating Amador Valley by eight strokes.

Stevenson, an Amador senior, tied Allio with a 77 after 18 on the tight, tree-lined course but faltered badly on the overtime hole.

His first drive hooked out of bounds by less than a foot and, after a respectable provisional drive, he fired a seven-iron well past the green. After a too-long chip shot and a putt from the fringe failed to put him in the cup, Stevenson absentmindedly backhanded his ball off the green.

"I didn't really pick up," he said later. "I don't know why I did that. Something just told me not to putt."

Stevenson, whose remarkable string of successes at the EBAL tourney includes a fourth two years ago in addition to his win at Tilden Park last season, was disappointed with his failure to win a second straight title.

"I really wanted it," he said. "I felt I had something to prove.

Allio, a 16-year old junior, was surprised to be tied for the lead with a 77.

After driving into the trees several times and three-putting four holes, Allio needed a chip-in for a birdie on the 18th to force the playoff with Stevenson, who birdied the second and fourteenth.

"I thought I'd shoot a lot better than a 77," Allio said, though admitting he had never played the Dry Creek course before. "I didn't think that would be good enough to win."

While Allio and Stevenson were assured of spots in the upcoming North Coast Section tournament, a three-way play-off for third was needed to select the final individual EBAL entrant.

Another sudden-death tie-breaker, this one among Granada's Ron Timm, Monte Vista's Tom Straeter and Amador's Scott Peters lasted three holes before Peters won with a slightly uphill 18-foot birdie putt at the 525-yard third hole.

Peters' win came at an opportune moment. At the tee he had commented, "I can't go through much more of this." Although forced to hit a provisional after his second shot sliced towards an out-of-bounds area, Peters scrambled to end things on the three-some's first putt extra hole of the third.

Straeter parred the hole to take fourth while Timm struggled to a seven.

Monte Vista coach Hal Fuson was not surprised at the Mustangs' team victory.

"I though we had the inside track," he said, adding that he expected top performances from Straeter and number one man Carl Richardson, who fired an 80 — better than average on a day when scores often threatened to eclipse the near-100 degree temperature.

But he took time to praise Dave Howe and Dave Olson, who both turned in surprisingly good scores. Howe, playing number five for MV, shot an 81 while Olson, who seldom scored in the top five for the Mustangs in EBAL dual matches, finished sixth with a 79.

"Howe always comes through in the clutch," said Fuson, "And Olson really came on today."

The Mustangs are not assured of an en masse trip to the NCS tourney, however. Livermore and Amador meet today in a replay of an early-season tie and, should the Cowboys win, an MV-Livermore match would determine the EBAL representative.

Warriors breeze

OAKLAND (AP) — The Golden State Warriors took control early on the shooting of Phil Smith and Charles Johnson and beat Phoenix 111-95 Wednesday night to move ahead of the Suns 3-2 in their National Basketball Association semifinal series.

Smith and Johnson, starting guards for the NBA champions scored 10 points apiece in the opening quarter and center Clifford Ray added nine as the Warriors took a 40-24 lead.

Rick Barry scored 10 of his 23 points in the second period, and Golden State led 69-50 at halftime.

Smith finished with 25 points to lead Golden State scorers, and Johnson had 16. Ray scored 15 and led the Warriors in rebounds with 16.

The sixth and perhaps final game in the best - of - seven playoff for the Western Conference championship is scheduled Friday night in Phoenix.

The Suns' starting center, NBA Rookie of the Year Alvan Adams suffered a sprained left ankle in a fall early in the third quarter and left the game, but first indications were he should be ready to play Friday. He scored 12 points before leaving.

Forward Curtis Perry scored 23 points to lead the Suns, and he also grabbed 18 rebounds. Substitute guard Dick VanArsdale scored 18 for Phoenix.

The Warriors' biggest lead was 21 points, 65-44, late in the first half. Phoenix twice cut the lead to 10 points in the second half, despite the loss of Adams.

The Warriors clinched the important victory when Charles Dudley, Smith and Barry accounted for six consecutive points, giving them a 90-74 lead in the final period.

Girls' softball

Dons defeat DV

Amador's girls softball squad, one of the top teams in the East Bay, will show up at the Acalanes Softball Tournament next week with a record to be proud of as the Dons, now 11-0-1 overall, downed Del Valle 17-10 in a practice game yesterday in Pleasanton. Amador handed the visitors their first defeat of the season as the Dons handily outhustled the league leaders of the Foothill Athletic League.

The talented Amador club compiled eight runs in the first two frames as Jayne Kuhns smacked a home run to start the game, while a stingy Don defense held Del Valle scoreless throughout the first three innings. The visitors managed four runs in the fourth and fifth frames.

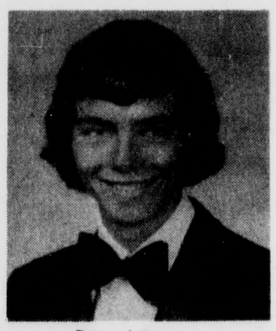
Livermore Boosters nominees



Boyd Tarin

EDITOR'S NOTE: These are more in a series of articles about athletes from Granada and Livermore high schools who have been nominated for scholarships by the Livermore Boosters Club.

Livermore High's Boyd Tarin has established himself as one of the most respected two-milers in the Bay Area.

Tarin took third in the prep two-mile at the Examiner Games in January, running a fine 9:22.2. That clocking broke the school record.

Tarin, a three-year performer in cross - country, led the Cowboys to an undefeated EBAL championship, a third-place North Coast finish and a number - one ranking in the East Bay last season.

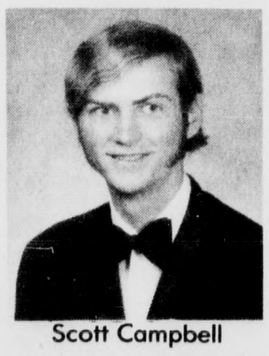
In the past three years Tarin has accumulated several Prep - of - the - Week awards for his running. He was named to the All-East Bay team in 1974 and 1975 and landed a spot on the second team All-Northern California squad in 1975.

In track, where he has lettered four years, Tarin is shaking off an injury and has his sights on the North Coast championships.

When he is not running, Tarin is the drum major for Livermore High's marching band.

Tarin maintains a 3.4 GPA and plans to attend either San Jose State University or the University of Nevada, Reno next fall where he will major in Business.

—Brian Martin



Scott Campbell

Scott Campbell of Granada High School began his sports career in the seventh grade when he went out for track and basketball. He decided to go out for sports because he was good in P.E.

However, it seems he was more than "just good" because since then he has received many awards in both sports. The awards he received in basketball include most valuable player on the freshmen and junior varsity teams and all-EBAL as a junior on the varsity. He was also a nominee for All-American in track and basketball for "Coaches Magazine.

Campbell is also active in school life and other sports. He has played tennis, ping-pong and water skies.

He is Block G treasurer, has been in CSF for two years and is student boday vice-president.

He was also the National Society of Distinguished American Students Representative.

Campbell plans to go to college at either U.C. Davis or Berkeley. He will continue running track in college.

Gangnuss, Campbell meet in EBAL hurdle finals

When Chuck Gangnuss of Dublin and Granada's Scott Campbell tangle in the 120-yard high hurdles at the East Bay Athletic League meet today at the Matador track there may be more than the EBAL title at stake.

Both athletes are strong bets to vie for the North Coast Section title in the highs. Gangnuss has run a 14.3 (in Tuesday's trials) and Campbell has legged a 14.4 (also in the trials). Both times rate with the best in the section.

But first things first. The Gangnuss - Campbell meeting today could see a winning time in the 14 flat area.

"I think Gangnuss is aiming for a 14 flat clocking," Dublin assistant coach Wayne Re said yesterday.

Matador coach John Sai also has high hopes for his star hurdler.

"I think Campbell can run a 14.2 if the conditions, such as the weather, are right and everything," he said. "I don't know how much he can get below 14.2 because he doesn't have blazing speed. It will depend a lot on his good form. Gangnuss has more speed but I think Campbell has more strength."

Both athletes will also go at it in the 330-yard lows. They'll have fast company in Dublin's Jim Boulware and Mike West of Livermore. Gangnuss has the fastest time (38.3) but the race is really wide-open.

Another interesting battle could develop in the distance races.

Boyd Tarin of Livermore ran a 9:22 two-mile during the winter but has been brothered by injuries and an allergy condition this spring. He will probably run the mile and possibly the two-mile.

Dan Harvey of Dublin and Granada's Scott Kusko are other top distance prospects.

Teacher's rally hardly an SRO

The rally of Alameda and Contra Costa County teachers, specifically to call attention to the alleged plight of education, drew an estimated 2,500 teachers, board members and sympathizers to the Oakland Auditorium Monday.

Organizers had originally hoped to draw 12 to 15,000 to the Oakland Coliseum but were encouraged to try a different venue when early estimates showed they would not get a "massive" turnout.

The Alcosta Service Center Council of the California Teachers Association had invited all area legislators plus Gov. Edmund G. Brown, Jr., and state Superintendent of Instruction Wilson Riles.

None of the invited ones showed. But Assemblyman Willie Brown of San Francisco, a pretender to the power circles in past years, did show and spoke stridently on behalf of more funds for schools.

Among those speaking Monday at the two-hour session was Jim Eaton, former Amador Valley Secondary Educators Assn. president and social studies department head at Foothill High School in Pleasanton.

Stephen H. Edwards, Jr., president of CTA, said, "In Alameda County the past two years, state support increased only $36 per pupil while local taxpayers added $236 per pupil to the program through increased assessments and also dipped into cash reserves to stall drastic program cuts. In Contra Costa County, the state increase was $26 against $215 put up by local taxpayers."

Edwards listed 10 unified school districts in both counties, including San Ramon Valley, which he claims dipped deeply into cash reserves. San Ramon Valley was cited as dropping from $723,000 to $313,000 (minus 56.7 per cent).

Edwards urged those present to contact Gov. Brown and their legislators by phone, letter, mailgram or telegram and ask them to approve SB 1641 by Sen. Albert Rodda.

3 children die in firebombing

BAKERSFIELD (AP) — Three children were killed when a firebomb was thrown into their house as they slept and a neighborhood feud may be involved, police said Wednesday.

Connie Huerta, 11, Corina Huerta, 9, and their nephew, Emilio Huerta Leal, 2, were killed in the fire.

Another child, Carmelita Leal, 4, sustained third-degree burns over 20 per cent of her body before her mother, Sayla Leal, 22, could pull her from the burning house through a window. Mrs. Leal suffered minor burns, officials said.

Four other persons living in the home escaped without injuries.

Witnesses told police they saw two people throw the firebombs. One struck the kitchen door and another landed on the roof, police said.

The Kern County sheriff's office had received two prior reports of neighborhood incidents, but Capt. Gerald Dodd refused to disclose what they involved.

"It was the kind of beef that could have gotten started between young people in anybody's neighborhood," Dodd said.

He added that no connection had yet been shown between the earlier complaints and the Tuesday night deaths.

Dodd said investigators found enough physical evidence at the fire scene that "we're ready to go into court to prove it was arson."

One person was being questioned, but no arrests had been made.

The girl was in surgery at a local hospital later and her condition was unknown.

Two other children escaped uninjured as did Mr. and Mrs. Otilio Huerta, parents of two of the dead children and grandparents of Emilio Leal, officials said.

Another child in the Huerta family died in an accidental fire several years ago, family members told sheriff's deputies.

(ZONING UNIT MAPS #151A - 151F)

WHEREAS, Section 65858 of the Government Code of the State of California permits the City Council, in order to protect the public safety, health and welfare, to adopt as an urgency measure an interim ordinance prohibiting any uses which may be in conflict with a contemplated zoning proposal which the City Council, Planning Commission or Planning Department is considering or studying or intending to study within a reasonable time; and

WHEREAS, the City Council adopted a new general plan on February 9, 1976, by Resolution No. 76-27 (A Resolution Adopting A Revised General Plan); and

WHEREAS, certain large properties are inconsistent with said general plan and must be brought into conformity pursuant to Sec. 65860 of the Government Code; and

WHEREAS, the City Council's Resolution No. 76-27 directed the staff to undertake studies and prepare a program for effectuating the goals, objectives and policies of the general plan and especially to devise a program for determining an appropriate method for allocating development within the City over a twenty year period; and

WHEREAS, the properties listed herein are capable of being placed into the PUD classification, which would be affected should said properties attempt to develop prior to the effective date of the PUD revision; and

WHEREAS, the public health, safety and welfare require the placement of these properties into an S (Study) District pending the completion of the studies mentioned above, in order that their development does not proceed at variance with the community's goals and objectives and zoning studies presently underway; and

WHEREAS, the owners of said properties will not be unduly inconvenienced by passage of this ordinance as an urgency measure since it will last for only four months, any extension thereof must comply with the hearing requirements of the State Zoning Act (Sec. 65850 et seq. of the Government Code), and any or all of the affected properties can be removed from the Study District at any time that the necessary studies are completed.
